Answer-It is projecting water by hy-draulic force upon a bank of earth.

Drift mining is hydraulic mining. The term drifting relates to the method of extracting the dirt from the mine. The same force is applied to it. It is washed by water and run Q .- Explain what you mean by the same pressure it is projected against a mass of dirt that has been taken out. The term drift refers simply to the mechanical operation. Q.—What is the difference between placer, drift and hydraulic mining? A.—The placers are surface grounds that are mined. They are washed sometimes in longtoms, without the projection of this force of water. The gold exists on the surface of the

Q-What with reference to outlet and A .- Well, an outlet is absolutely necessary to the successful operation of a mine. There nust be fall. That is the case in all mining.

A.—I mean a place lower vertically than the place where the pay dirt is found. There must be some place lower, where it is deposited. I call that a dump. There must be some place of that character else mining could not be continued. Q.—To what extent has the dump-right been recognized in the State?

been used in this case. Explain what they the 20th or 224. A .- The word slickens, I think, is synono-

Q.—Where do these materials emanate from?

A.—They emanate from various causes.

Partly they come from the processes of nature; they come from agriculture; they are the effects of civilization, the cultivation of the company of the compan nature; they come from agriculture; they are the effects of civilization, the cultivation of the soil, and incidentally of mining. I have been acquainted with the American river since 1865. Examined it in 1865. In that year I purphased a claim at Gold Run, and subsequent to that I examined the country with the staff of the State Geological Say, and My acquaintance with the Gold. cal Sur sey. My acquaintance with the Gold Run mine extends back to 1805. The head of that staff was Prof. Whitney. Q.—Did you find granitic rock there?
A.—I did not. I was specially engaged in searching for a granite belt above there, in connection with the Geological Survey.
Q.—Are you acquainted with the duty of an inch of water upon such material as is to be found there in the top?

A.—I know the relative duty of an inch of water. I know what it would do approxiand I think a verticle depth of possibly 120 feet. I am acquainted with the American river from Warner's bridge down to Rice's bridge.

It was so solid that a wagon could be driven over. It is a very good road-bed. It is one of the finest road-beds I ever saw.

Probably it would take more than a month under the most favorable circumstances, and if the men are weak and ill it might be altogether too much for them. The presumption is that they are weak and ill. At least we have already been told that all the crew of Lieutenant De Long's boat were suffering from frost-bitten limbs, and such injuries may very easily proceed to mortification and death if food is insufficient or of poor quality. It is very improbable that men in this state could undertake a long and would not only be subjected to incessant jeltings, but also to a temperature so low as to endanger an aggravation of their injuries. In fact it seems probable that the rescued men will have to stay at the mouth of the Lena until they have recovered their strength, and as this is likely to take some time the wisest course might be to send an abundant supply of whatever is most needed by them, to their present place of sojourn. Certainly it would be a great mistake to hurry them forward before they are in a condition to travel, for such haste would be very apt to cause the loss of the weaker members before they reached home. After the sufferings they have undergone Nature will insist upon a period of complete rest and repose; and unless they can have this in such a way as to break their journey, we fear that many of them will sink under the hardships of the sledge-drive to Jakutsk.

THE TARIFF QUESTION COMING TO THE

The slight tilt in the Senate between Beck and Hoar on the tariff question, and the resolution asking for information as to the rates of protective duties in France and Germany, and the rates of the wages of labor in Europe, together indicate that largely to these subjects. Hoar's buncombe speech about the workingmen of Massachusetts was very neatly capped by Beck, in the remark that notwithstanding the nominally high rate of wages in Massachusetts, $500 there will purchase less of the necessaries of life than $300 in England. And Mr. Hoar might also have been asked whether it is equitable to make everything dearer for four-fifths of the labor of the country in order that one fifth shall have artificially high wages, for that is about the proportion of "protected" labor to unprotected. No doubt Mr. Hoar finds it necessary to stand up for a system which is erroneously supposed by a very influential part of his constituents to improve their condition, but it does not follow that all the rest of the country ought to take the same view of the matter, and it would not follow even if his political economy was as correct as it is incorrect. And Senator Beck struck one of the weakest places in the armor of Protection when he referred to the vital question of the relative purchasing power of wages. For the truth is that the tariff takes away with one hand what it gives with the other, even in the Jay Gould, has been indicted by the New York case of the workingmen who are supposed Public Works has been arrested for raising checks. nally than those of Manchester. The rates of wages in Massachusetts and England, in that trade at least, are almost on a level, but when we come to examine the relative purchasing power of those wages,

During the past few years there has been a steady rise in prices in this country, and it has been recently estimated that this rise at present amounts to an increase of not less than thirty-five per cent. A great part of this is the result of that insidious inflation of the currency which has been going on under the silver-coinage law. Other causes, however, have helped the enhancement, and the tariff has forced it home upon the consumer. And the consumer is the protected laborer, among other people. Whatever increase of wages he receives through the tariff is much more than counterbalanced by the increase in the cost of living which that instrument causes. Nor have wages risen to keep pace with the rise in prices. They have rather fallen. and the general consequence is that despite, or indeed because of, the tariff, the condition of the Eastern workingmen is less satisfactory than it has been for years. Senof the Jeannette expedition are detailed in our dis- ator Hoar of course does his best, being of counsel for the Protectionist mill-owners, to convince the laborers that it is their interest to resist any modification of the tar-

He thinks that ally outside of the traditional strongholds the people of the Jeannette ought, provided of Protection ought by this time to realize they are able to travel, to proceed with as | that they are being sacrificed in the most unjustifiable way. The great West, in short, is being made a hewer of wood and a drawer of water for the East, for Massachusetts and Pennsylvania and Maine and New York. The millions who labor to produce our breadstuffs and our stock have no tariff to bolster them up. They are being forced to pay as high as forty per cent, on an average for the pleasure of seeing a few hundred thousands of Eastern workingmen receive a wage which is not ten per cent. higher than the English rate, and which falls below the latter in purchasing power nearly fifty per cent. This is the mathematics of Protection. It is on every respect. Travis returned some weeks ago, and meddlesome neighbors told ugly toilsome land journey, during which they a par, as regards intelligence, with the ingenuity of the Chinaman in Lamb's story, who could imagine no better way of roasting pork than by burning his house down every time he wanted a feast. Protection is the most costly hobby a nation can ride, and it is also one of the most demoralizing. For when men have learned to cheat and swindle one another under the pretext of benefiting the whole country, they are ripe for repudiation, fraudulent bankruptcy, de- the title of a "Commission. falcation, and general corruption both in and out of politics. And Protection is a doctrine which necessitates dishonesty in practice, because its essence is inequity. It is a patent method of supporting industry by making those who do not share its profits pay for it, and in that sense it is no little than the cavalry and the cavalry and comporal and one private, were killed. Miles always paid water frent, and never objected. Some time in the month of April last the faucets were all shut iff on a refusal of trainers of horses to pay rent. We at that time asked to have the water turned on, which was refused unless we would be responsible to the city, to which we agreed. The Board indorsed my action, and voted to give the water free to the trainers, as the city has heretofore done. Now, who objects? It is some one who keeps a training stable on the some one who keeps a training stable on the outside, but uses the track free. The State

Purses of many thousands of dollars have already been subscribed, and fine grounds in addition (no doubt they will add free water), to offer to the State at a fitting time, to have this institution moved from our midst. It is not seventy dollars that we want (although we refuse no liberality that the city may offer), but a generous, liberal treatment from the city, whose taxpayers reap a large annual harvest. We want to be free from the annoyance that a charge for water would subject us to; and we want the Society free from the charge of parsimony, which would be laid at its door if the city imposes a water rent. That is all we want.

There was more rock, including all kinds of rock, in the center of the channel, than there is in the banks left standing. Those early benches must have been 100 feet in hight. The depth of the bank in the east rim is about 100 feet. The west rim must be a little less. The loamy soil was washed off before I went there. On the river I should say it was ten or fifteen feet. At the present time, where the trees are growing, on the west side, about four feet. That was a red soil. It was impacted in the bottom, but very loose on the top. The old banks have stood well, but the snow and water have cut them down some. The banks are stood well, or the load of the Cherokee hydraulic miner. Above the blue gravel is material of which sample No. 2 is a fair sample. Its color is different and very well defined. It does not run on an even grade. Some places the depth of this material would be greater. As you go lower the material becomes cemented together by a solution containing the oxide of iron. The gravel above is compacted mechanically. While that in the bottom is cemented chemically. The relacive duty of an inch of water on the material above the blue gravel and upon the blue gravel would be about as four to one. The duty of water on the whole bank might be an average of six cubic yards. Every miner has his own idea about grade. They are now running lighter grades generally than formerly. More material can be washed with a heavier grade. The direct dump of the Gold Run mine is in Canyon creek. The final dump I consider is in the North Fork of the American.

When I woke up in the morning I found about two feet of water in my room. I bought a boat and went to boating in the city. We got an ounce apiece for taking passengers from the city to Sutter's Fort. I had a partner with me in the boat business. We boated for several days. There was a deep slough between Front and Second streets, I remained in the city until the first of April. There was quite a rise of water in March. During the second rise of water there was not sufficient water on K street to float a boat. The water that flooded the city in 1850 came from the American river. The roads leading to Sacramento were very bad. I engaged for a short time in the keeping of a restaurant. CARLIN, December 22d .- Passed here to Run mine. I consider the Gold Run mine a first-class mine in every respect. Granite has a greater specific gravity than slate rock. A cubic foot of that sand would weigh eighty or ninety pounds. [Witness described the manner in which he arrived at the specific gravity of minerals.]

Re-direct (to Mr. Dibble)—The average hight of the workings at the Gold Run mine are about 200 feet. The rim rock is the sides of the channel of the ancient river beds. The rim rock in the Gold Run mine is a slate formation. It is exposed to a hight of more

BOARD OF STATE VITICULTURAL

Commissioners.

OFFICER, No. 111 Leidesdorff st., San Francisco. TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: BE IT known, that I, Charles A. Wetmore, Chief Exentive Viticultural and Health Officer of the Board of State Viticultural Commissioners, being duly authorized and instructed by said Board, do declare the following quarantine rules and regulations for he protection of the viticultural industries of this ate, and due notice is hereby given, as provided by law, thirty days of publication in two daily newspers of general circulation, not of the same city or ounty, in this State. All parties concerned therein are required to conform thereto, subject to penalties provided for by law, for any infraction or evasion of said rules and regulations: QUARANTINE BULES AND REGULATIONS.

Rule 1. All cuttings of grapevines made in this State for sale, gift or distribution outside the vine yard, or vineyards, where the same were grown, and ntended for new plantations, shall be made solely of the wood of the preceding year's growth; all older wood to be carefully and thoroughly removed before leaving the vineyard where made, and to be nmediately destroyed by fire, if removed from such attings wherever seized by any duly authorized inector for any evasion or infraction of this rule The reason of this rule is that the winter egg of the phylloxera vastatrix is according to the best authorities, found only on the old wood. Rule 2. All cuttings of grapevines, and rooted grapevines, imported from any region or country outside this State, intended for sale, gift or distribu tion for plantation in this State, shall be disinfected at the place of first consignment within this State before being further distributed or planted, the method of disinfection to be at the option of the owner or agent in charge of the said cuttings or vines, according to any one of the following methods,

First-Dissolve sulpho carbonate of potash in cold water; proportions, 10 pounds of sulpho carbonate, to 100 gallons of water; immerse cuttings and rooted ines fifteen minutes. Second-Dissolve Little's soluble phenyle by pourng upon it cold water in the propertion of 50 galons of water to one gallon of the phenyle; immerse cuttings and rooted vines ten minutes. Third-Take two parts heavy oil of coal tar, two parts water and one part carbonate of potash, or arbonate of soda; put in a covered vessel and heat ently to boiling point for one hour; replace water ost by evaporation; pour into suitable vessels and agitate violently; dilute with 50 parts of cold waer; immerse cuttings and rooted vines 10 minutes. Fourth-Dissolve carbolic acid crystals in water, in propertion of one pound of acid to 20 gallons of water; immerse cuttings and rooted vines ten miu-

Fifth-Dissolve sulphide of potash in the proporion of one pound to 20 gallons of water; immerse uttings and rooted vines twenty minutes. Sixth-Dilute one part of "liver of lime" in 20 parts of water; immerse cuttings and rooted vines ten minutes. [N. B.—To make "liver of lime" take one pound quicklime, one pound sulphur, one gallon water; mix; boil over quick fire to one-half of volume ; agitate before using ; dilute with 20 parts INSPECTORS.

For the convenience and protection of all interested parties throughout the State there will be appointed local resident inspectors, as provided for CENTRAL PACIFIC RAPLROAD. by law, for each section or region where vine-growers desire the same, and upon the application of any three such neighboring growers, or parties intend application to be addressed to this office, and to be acompanied, whenever practicable, with nominations of suitable persons for the office of Inspector. The other Inspectors required by law will be appointed by this office. RECOMMENDATIONS FOR THE FURTHER PROTECTION OF VINEYARDS.

All persons planting new vineya ds within the State are advised and strongly urged to consider all roots and cuttings suspected, regardless of origin, and to thoroughly disinfect them, thereby accomplishing the destruction of all possible germs of insect pests upon them, as well as also those of fun-parts of the country.

For the further convenience of vine-growers, cer-For the further convenience of vine-growers, certificates shall be issued by any Inspector residing near the vineyard of the applicant, or the person in charge of cuttings or rooted vines, setting forth that the provisions of Rule 2 have been complied with, and shall be entitled to charge in each case not exceeding 50 cents for such certificates made out in duplicate, one certificate being sufficient to cover any quantity of cuttings or rooted vines in the possession of the applicant that may be satisfactorily shown to the said Inspect r to have been disinfected. Certificates of disinfection shall likewise be given

Rule 3. All packages and the packing materials coming into the State with imported cuttings and vines (referred to in Rule 2) shall be disinfected, at the time of disinfecting the contents thereof, by immersing in or washing with any of the solutions named in Rule 2, provided that the strength of the same, in case of mere washing, shall be increased by the reduction of the water in the same to one-fourth the reluitive proportions named; if you districted the relative proportions named; if not disinfectes such packages and packing materials shall be d

All infractions or evasions of these rules will be ounishable according to law.
